Definitions

ANU Procedures

ANU Procedures means the ANU online Accommodation Application Process.

Academic Year

The Academic Year is the period that contains Semesters 1 and 2 (from February to November of each year) including semester and mid semester breaks.

Semester

A Semester is the teaching and exam period for a programme and is of approximately 16 weeks' duration. It consists of two terms separated by the mid semester break.

Student

A student means a student enrolled at ANU, the Australian Catholic University (ACU), University of Canberra (UC) or the Canberra Institute of Technology (CIT).

Fulltime Student

A Fulltime student is enrolled in three or more courses per semester.

NB.

A student doing 1 or 2 courses per semester is a part-time student.

Resident

A Resident is a student residing at John XXIII College. They could be either a Commencing Resident or a Returning Resident who has been made an official offer to reside in the College and has accepted, signed and submitted the Accommodation Agreement.

Member of College

A Member of the College is a Resident who has been accepted as a Resident of the College and is eligible to access all the services and facilities provided by the College.

Probation

Probation means that a Resident is on a warning and further infringements during the academic year could lead to suspension or exclusion from John XXIII College. At the end of the Resident's contract it could mean that a Resident is not able to return to the College. There are three types of Probation – Academic, Behavioural and Financial.

Show Cause

Show Cause is a process within the College, for Residents who have been required to make a case for returning to College, because they have failed to meet the conditions of ongoing membership of the College.
